MASSACRE.

Horrible Cruelties to Armenian Christians.

KILLED BY THOUSANDS.

Turkish Soldiers Shoot Down Defenseless People.

THIRTY VILLAGES DESTROYED.

Between Six and Ten Thousand Persons Killed—The Reported Outrages Fully Confirmed by Official Investigation—Two Stories of the Origin of the Trouble—Foreign Powers Asked to Intervene—Awful Outrages Upon Noble Martyrs.

London, Nov. 16.—The Standard's correspondent in Varna describes the recent massacre of Armenian Christians as of equal importance with the Bulgarian butcheries which led to the Russo-Turkish war.

He says: "The trouble began with the refusal of the Armenians to pay taxes on the ground that the Kurdish raids had so impoverished them as to render it impossible. This probably was true. The troops were sent to enforce the payments, but were beaten off. The Governor of Bitlis then arrived with an imposing force of regulars. The people seeing that the struggle was hopeless, yielded, but the Governor, resolved to make an example of them. He ordered the troops to fire on the defenseless people, and they obeyed with alacrity. They only ceased when the residents of 25 villages, numbering some thousands, had been killed. Some reports say 6000 were slain.

"Great Britain sent her consul in Van, Mr. Hallward, to report on the slaughter. The British ambassador in Constantinople upon receiving the report communicated it to the porte. The Sultan was horrified and ordered the local militia commander, Sekl Pacha, to make his report on the matter at once. Seki had been originally instructed to proceed to the scene after the repulse of the troops, but the Governor of Bitlis arrived there ahead of him. It seems that Seki's report confirmed Mr. Halward's, whereupon the Governor formulated the grave charge that the latter was inciting the Armenians to revolt, thus causing the whole original disturbance. This was submitted to Sir Philip Currie, who has sent out British officials to make inquiries."

Mr. Hagerplan, chairman of the Armenian Patriotic association in London has sent Lord Kimberly, foreign secretary, a letter sent from Bitlis, on Oct. 9th. Mr. Hagerplan, after declaring his belief in the reports of the massacre, submits that, in view of the horrible tortures, and persecutions of the Armenians the time had come to abolish the administration of the porte and substitute a regime approved by the signatories of the Berlin treaty.

The letter from Bitlis gives details of the origin of the disturbance. This was a Kurdish raid on Armenian cattle, resulting in a fight in which two Kurds were killed. The friends of the Kurds took the corpses to Moush and declared that the Armenians had overrun the land and were killing and plundering right and left. This furnished the pretext for the massing of the troops. The latter then, describes the horrors of the massacre.

It says that on the admission of Turkish soldiers some of whom tearfully protested that they merely obeyed orders, it is asserted that no compassion was shown to age or sex. In one place 300 or 400 women, after having been forced repeatedly to submit to the soldiers, were hacked to pieces with swords and bayonets. In another place 200 weeping women begged at the commander's feet for mercy. The commander, after ordering that they be outraged had them all dispatched with the sword. Similar scenes were enacted in other places. In one case 60 young brides and maidens were driven into a church and were butchered until the blood flowed from the doors. A large company led by a priest kneeled by the church begging for compassion, averring that they had nothing to do with the culprits who killed the Kurds. It was in vain; all were killed.

Several attractive women were told they might live if they would recant their faith. They replied: "Why should we deny Christ? We have no more reason to do so than had these—pointing to the mangled bodies of their husbands and brothers. Kill us too." This was done.

The letter says that between 6000 and 10,000 were killed. Babes were impaled on the same weapon with their mothers. Several soldiers admitted that they had disposed of a hundred victims each. Nearly 30 villages were destroyed. Some families were burned with kerosene in their own homes.

GOLD AT A PREMIUM.

The London News Says Such Is the Case in New York.

London, Nov. 16.—The Daily News tomorrow will say that the gold shipment yesterday was made by the Bank of British North America. "Others may follow," it will add, "but the movement is not likely to be of much importance. Continued remittances will establish the fact that gold is virtually at a premium of one half per cent. in New York, a conclusion which the American government and people are by no means prepared to admit."

Chief Engineer Milligan Injured

New London, Conn., Nov. 16. Chief Engineer Milligan, U. S. N., was struck by a locomotive just south of the railroad bridge over Shaw's Cove this afternoon and that he did not lose his life or suffer injury that would be permanent, was exceedingly fortunate. He is here as a member of the government trial board to witness the result of the torpedo boat Ericsson to-morrow.

He is comfortable to-night and is expecting to perform his duties as a member of the trial board to-morrow. Commodore Selfridge said to-night that if Mr. Milligan was not able, he would substitute some one in his place.

The torpedo boat Ericsson slid off the ways at the Morgan Iron works this afternoon, ready for her speed run to-morrow. She is in perfect trim. Her broken eccentric strap has been replaced by a new one and the boat carefully inspected.

PENCE TALKS.

He Professes Some Hopes for a Free Coinage Bill.

Chicago, Nov. 16.—Congressman Pence, accompanied by his wife, arrived in Chicago this morning on his way to the East. He was asked what was the cause of the Populists' overthrow in Colorado. He said: "It was largely the same as operated in the country in general. Times were hard and the party in power—whether in nation or State—had to pay the usual penalty that is imposed by voters during a season of depression. Governor Waite's renomination was not fortunate. He had occupied a peculiar position, and had made many serious mistakes. All the Denver daily papers had bitterly denounced his official course and had educated the people of the State to the belief that his administration was responsible for the distress in the State. Personally I do not think this was right, as I certainly believe that the only way to restore the full measure of prosperity of Colorado is through Federal legislation restoring free silver coinage. Silver mining will probably continue at a low ebb until something is done by Congress to restore coinage of white metal."

"How about gold mining?"

"Last year was a remarkable one in Colorado in that respect. The State will produce, probably $12,000,000 in gold this year, and increase the output by one half next year. There is in my opinion no field so inviting for capital to-day as gold mining in Colorado and other Western States. One man's labor in gold mining produces as much as the labor of 20 in silver mining."

And for that reason Mr. Pence says silver mining would better conduce to the general prosperity. It would keep more men employed.

Colorado's coal and iron deposits have been attracting attention, Mr. Pence says.

"We have as much coal as Pennsylvania and as much iron as Missouri, but our geographical position and every discrimination is against us. This was shown by the fact that Nebraska farmers find it cheaper to use corn as fuel than to buy our coal."

Speaking of probable legislation during the short session of Congress, Mr. Pence says: "It all depends on Speaker Crisp, Mr. Outhwaite of Ohio and Mr. Cummings of New York. These constitute a majority of the Committee on Rules, and can secure the right of way for about such legislation as they please. They probably will be governed largely by the President's message. It looks now from reports in the papers that Mr. Cleveland will recommend legislation looking toward more money for the country, but that he will want it issued through the national banks. If he makes this profession, then look out for the breaking up of the Democratic party in the South. Since the days of Andrew Jackson the Southern Democrats have been opposed to farming out the issue of the people's money through national banks.

"If the President does not urge such a plan and leaves Crisp and those who believe with him free and unincumbered, then I think in the short session a winning fight will be made for free coinage and that a bill to that end will be passed."

KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

New Orleans, Nov. 16.—ExGrand Master Workman Powderly, who arrived here last night, declines to speak of his plans or to admit that he is a candidate for re-election before the general assembly. His friends in the convention are making a quiet canvass in his behalf, and it is stated this morning that if they see their way clear that Mr. Powderly's name will be presented to the convention, not because Mr. Powderly wants the office, but because he desires vindication. It is not yet definitely settled when the election of officers will take place.

The Knights met at 2 o'clock to-day as usual, and adjourned at 12:30 p. m. The reports of the finance committee of the executive board and of the recording and financial secretaries were read and referred. There was also presented the report of the special committee with Grand Master Workman Sovereign at its head, which called the convention of national labor leaders at St. Louis on June 13. The report was also referred. No further information concerning the session was given out.

All the delegates to the general assembly were present when Master Workman Sovereign called the afternoon session to order at 2 o'clock.

The first business was to receive the report of the financial condition of the order, which showed that there was now in the grand treasurer's hands $9,000.

A schedule of the property in the possession of the order was also presented. Among the items on the schedule was the Knights of Labor building in Philadelphia, valued at $60,000. Official Journal and plant, $15,000; CanaBurg, Ind., coal mine, $10,000; real estate at Homes, N. Y., $3,000, and other smaller properties, aggregating in the whole about $95,000.

The committee on law made their report, which was referred to the committee on distribution to be presented to the sub-committee. A few minor changes were made in the preamble of the order, but the motion to elect grand officers for the terms of two years each was defeated by a large majority. A congratulatory telegram was sent to the national grange now in convention at Springfield, Ill.

Interest is now centered in the election of officers, which will not be taken up until the latter part of the session. Past Master Workman Terrence V. Powderly is in the field and has a strong following against the present incumbent.

Mr. Powderly declines to be interviewed, and declines to say whether or not he is after the office.

The W. C. T. U. have been invited to address the general assembly to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock. Adjournment was taken at 5:30 p. m.

REVIEW OF TRADE.

R. G. Dun's & Co.'s Weekly Commercial Summary.

SOME BUSINESS IMPROVEMENT.

The Offered Bonds Will be Taken at Once The Effect is Doubtful—Heavy Exports but at Ruinously Low Prices.

New York, Nov. 16.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade will say tomorrow;

In nearly all branches of business improvement appears and the hopeful feeling observed last week has continued. It was noted that the main conditions of business and trade had not suddenly changed, and this becomes clearer, to the disappointment of some. Low farm products, low wages and only partial employment of labor, still retard distribution, and the limited demand hinders the recovery of industries. Progress toward recovery has not ceased, and many establishments have resumed or added to their producing force, some also advancing wages, but it will take time to lift business out of its depression, and the progress made, if less than the sanguine expected, is at least encouraging. The decision to offer $50,000,000 bonds for replenishment of the treasury reserve was, by bankers generally approved, but events are showing that restoration of confidence cannot by itself remove all embarrassment.

It is generally assumed that the offered bonds will be taken at once. The effect is less easy to anticipate, for the formal announcement that after a general reconstruction of the revenue laws it is still found necessary to borrow largely, tends to raise doubt about financial provisions for the future. The reported importation of gold from London, with a loss on its face of $7,500 at present exchange rates, is presumably meant to effect bond subscriptions. There have already been some withdrawals of gold from the treasury by redemption of notes to make payments for bonds, and goods rather than gold are likely to come from Europe. London has also sold here about 15,000 shares during the week. Money continues to accumulate, none going West, while the outgo to the South has diminished. Bankers are much encouraged by indications of larger business, but there is no increase as yet in commercial borrowing, and one dry goods loan has been taken at 2¼ per cent.

Mercantile imports in two weeks of November have been 16 per cent larger than last year, though 30 per cent less than in 1892, and exports for the same time show a decrease of about 8 per cent. Exports of breadstuffs, cotton, provisions and oil in October was $57,006,367 against $58,828,935 last year, although a million bales of cotton went abroad and the value of the same quantities exported this year would have exceeded $70,000,000 at last year's prices, the difference in prices alone being $10,600,000 in cotton and $2,400,000 in breadstuffs.

Resumption of work and increase of working time have been more conspicuous in the cotton industry than in others, but no increased demand for goods appears. Print cloths are unchanged, and the market is dull. Few shoe concerns have stopped or resumed, but shipments from Boston in two weeks have been 151,261 cases against 112,631 last year, and 130,549 in 1892. Orders for the cheapest goods have multiplied so that most producers of such goods are occupied until next year, but better grades are still neglected. In women's grain shoes manufacturers have sold largely at last year's prices, but claim that the advance in leather adds 2 or 3 cents to the cost, and ensures loss and they are accepting fewer orders. Leather manufacturers hold that they cannot sell more cheaply, as hides are at present. For finished products of iron the demand is on the whole narrower, so that structural beams are lower, the barbed wire combination has broken, the strife in nails continues at the lowest prices heretofore named, and both grey forge and Bessemer are a shade lower at Pittsburg. At the West there is little more improvement. Manufacturers of winter woolens have good orders for this time of the year, many still running mainly on such goods, but there is a general failure of supplemental orders for spring goods. In Kersey cloakings there is prospect of a good season, and the retail trade in carpets has been encouraging, but sales of wool are again smaller than last year.

Speculative markets have been stimulated in part by the call for bonds, and wheat has advanced 1½ cent, corn 1½ cent, and cotton a sixteenth. Western wheat receipts in two weeks of November have been 7,871,671 bushels, against 12,166,330 last year, but Atlantic exports in two weeks have been only 1,009,335 bushels, against 1,770,613 last year, and they are not increased by the advance in price, which is partly due to accounts of extensive feeding to cattle. In October, over half the exports were from the Pacific coast at less than 50 cents, so that the average for all exports was only 51.8 cents against 68.5 cents last year. Corn receipts have been less than half of last year's, with exports insignificant. The cotton movement continues large, but sales were made at only 5.56 cents for two days here, and at such prices profits were poor.

The stock market continued on Saturday the advance begun last week, and in spite of realizing was comparatively steady until Wednesday, but closes with the average 21 cents per share lower for railroads and $1 lower for trusts than last week. Railroad earnings for the first week of November are 5.6 per cent less than last year, and 11.8 per cent less than in 1892. Reports from October show earnings of about $50,000,000 in the United States, which are 5.9 per cent less than last year and 8.8 per cent less than in 1892. Tonnage is slightly smaller owing to the reduced grain movement, and a lower westbound movement of dry goods and heavy groceries, while eastbound tonnage from Chicago for two weeks has been 91,411 tons, against 112,737 last year and 133,073 in 1892. Exchanges through all principal clearing houses for two weeks of November have been 1.4 per cent larger than last year, but 21.2 per cent less than in 1892.

Failures in the first week of November were rather larger than of late, liabilities amounting to $7,644,445, of which $742,420 were of manufacturing and $7,038,477 of trading concerns. In five weeks ending November 1, liabilities in failures were $11,127,290, of which $1,464,813 were of manufacturing and $6,671,974 of trading concerns.

The failures of the past week have been 270 in the United States, against 323 last year and 38 in Canada, against 36 last year.

THE COOK GANG.

Muskogee, I. T., Nov. 16.—The citizens of Muskogee and the chiefs of the Creek and Cherokee Nations have been thoroughly disgusted with the deputy marshals and Indian police, and have concluded to offer a reward sufficient to justify officers in coming from the States to capture the 15 members of the Cook gang of bandits, $1,500 has been offered for the capture of Bill Cook, Cherokee Bill, James French, Skeeter and James Turner.

The $500 reward offered by the Government and the $250 offered by Chief Harris of the Cherokee Nation, did not prove effective. Warrants for the arrest of Bill Cook, Cherokee Bill, James French, James Turner, Skeeter and Bill McElijah were placed in the hands of the Muskogee deputies on the 24th of October, but no attempt has yet been made to arrest any member of the gang.

Attorney General Olney has wired the court officials of this place that the lawlessness in the territory must be put down. Mr. Olney says he cannot understand why the Cook gang has not been captured, as the Territory has more marshals and peace officers than many of the States.

Last night the town was full of deputy marshals, and six of them were patrolling the town about 10 o'clock; they came face to face with the bandits, and instead of attempting to make an arrest they turned and ran to where 12 other deputies were planning to capture the gang, about 50 yards away, but failed to return until the bandits were out of the town more than half an hour.

About 2 o'clock this afternoon the Creek light horsemen came up on the 15 marshals and police about three miles west of Muskogee, and thinking the marshals were the bandits surrounded them. The marshals took the light horsemen for the bandits, and prepared for the battle. The two companies of officers guarded each other several hours, but only one shot was fired. Chief Perryman of the Creek Nation received information of the facts and he and the United States attorney had to drive out to the grounds to inform the two forces of the ture situation.

An Indian officer has just arrived and reported that the Cooks are not 10 miles from Muskogee, and he is trying to get up a crowd of officers to go after the gang. It is well known to all that the robbers have been within 10 miles of Muskogee for more than a week. The people absolutely have no protection against the robbers. There is not a night in the week but three or four members of the gang are seen in the dives of this town.

A HEROINE.

Maud Scherm horn Saves Many Lives in a Hotel Fire.

Wichita, Kan., Nov. 16.—The Patterson House at Harper was destroyed by fire early this morning at a loss of $20,000. Through the heroism of Maud Schermerhorn, a girl of 16, great loss of life was prevented. There were 38 guests in the house at the time, and many of them escaped with nothing but their night clothes. Maud Schermerhorn was the first to awaken to the danger, and, calling a companion, the two tried to escape down a back stairway, but were driven back by the fire. Maud Schermerhorn's companion fainted, and the young girl carried her through the smoke to a window through which she lowered her to an abutting roof and thence to the ground.

Both were badly burned, but Miss Schermerhorn returned to the house to awaken the guests. By this time all the passages were full of smoke, and crawling on her hands and knees, she went from door to door, giving the alarm, until finally she herself sank exhausted by her burns and other injuries. In rushing out one of the guests noticed the prostrate form of the young girl, and carried her out just in time, for a few moments later all the avenues of escape were cut off by flames. Many of the guests were overcome by the smoke and heat, and had to be carried out.

A Farmer Burned.

Creston, O., Nov. 16.—Walter Beall, a farmer living two miles from here in Swan township was burned to death this morning in a fire that destroyed his barn. Beall was endeavoring to save his horses when the flames surrounded him and cut off his escape. His young wife, who was in a delicate condition became prostrated over her husband's death and died late this evening from the effects of the shock.

Dr. McCosh Dead.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 16.—Dr. McCosh died at 10 o'clock to-night. His death was peaceful and calm. The announcement was made by the tolling of the college bell. The noble life of ex-President James McCosh of Princeton University is varied and interesting. He was born April 1, 1810, in Ayreshire, Scotland, and his early years were spent on his father's farm.

The Ives-Schaefer Match.

New York, Nov. 16.—The Schaefer-Ives billiard match was continued to-night. Schaefer played a strong game, running 736 points while Ives made 600. The score stands: Ives 3000, Schaefer 2349. High runs to-night: Schaefer 126; Ives 125; average, Schaefer 47 1-4, Ives 35 5-17; grdan average, Ives 46 2-13, Schaefer 39 14-65.

Southern Fires Extinguished.

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 16.—There was a two-inch rainfall throughout the Memphis district to-night, the first that has fallen inch rainfall throughout the Memphis district to-night, the first that has fallen in 10 weeks. It is sufficient to put an end to the forest fires that have done so much damage hereabouts lately.

Sentenced to Hang.

Woodland, Cal., Nov. 16.—In the Worden case to-night Judge Grant denied the motion of Attorney Strong for a new trial and sentenced the defendant to be hanged Feb. 12, 1895.

Ex-Senator Winthrop Dead.

Boston, Nov. 16.—Ex-United States Senator Robert C. Winthrop died at 11:20 p. m. at his Marlboro street residence.

CRIPPLE CREEK.

Work Resumed on the Long Idle Legal Tender.

A MAN SHOT AT GOLDFIELD.

The Mutual Company Takes Its Turn on the Happy List—Free Gold Found in Brick—An Option Given on the Rosetta.

Special to The Gazette.

Cripple Creek, Nov. 16.—A 15-days' option has been given on the Rosette lode, situated in Poverty gulch, and directly north of the great C. O. D. The sum is $10,000, and is to Mr. Dilly, a well-known mining man of Leadville. This property is owned by Messrs. Gortner, Dwyer and Shaw, and it is considered a very reasonable price for the claim. Several different parties have spent considerable money on this very likely prospect, and about a year ago $7,500 on the purchase price was paid and allowed to be forfeited. The shaft is down 143 feet, and if the option is taken some thorough work is expected to be done upon it once again.

The McClosky brothers of Pike's Peak lease fame, have resumed work on their 90-foot shaft on Cripple Creek heights, and intend to follow a small pay streak which has shown up in the vein.

The steam whistle at the Legal Tender blew for the first time after a lapse of two years. The mine is owned by the Legal Tender Mining Company, of which D. H. Moffat and Eben Smith are the principal stockholders. There is a fine shaft on the property, which is well timbered, and the mine is fitted up with a good steam hoist, one of the first in the camp. It is to be worked by lessees.

At the brick yard on the new townsite of Goldfield a broken brick was picked up to-day which showed up a piece of free gold which could be plainly seen. The whole surface of this town is nothing more or less than a placer, so it is no great wonder that the gold was seen.

Goldfield will surely be a great mining town, for before many knew of its existence it has had its little shooting scrape. One George Gregory, a miner, who works at the Victor mine, was shot to-day by Mrs. Harding. Dr. Collins extracted a bullet from the right leg, and took it out from between the knee and the hip. The shooting is said to be an accident.

Tom Malony has a big mining deal on the Katherine, with some Chicago parties. It is supposed to be the Uintan tunnel, which is surveyed through the saddle between Squaw and Battle mountains.

The shaft on the Caledonia has now reached a depth of 100 feet, and the men are cross-cutting to reach the vein. At the first level 75 feet from the shaft the vein is richer than at any other place in the mine. Assays of from $90 to $1,300 to the ton have been obtained. Mr. Morris Finn has one of the most complete outfits in the camp, with a steam hoist and a sliding platform in the shaft to protect the miners below.

The New Discovery on Mineral hill is attracting a great deal of attention, and mining men of the camp are looking after the surrounding properties with a desire to bond and lease. The mine is owned by the Mutual Mining Company, with headquarters in Colorado Springs. The vein is eight feet wide with fully 12 inches of smelting ore, and the rest a good grade of mineral, and the shaft only 12 feet deep.

Mr. H. D. Gortner, who located the Mollie Kathleen lode over three years ago, now has a well-defined vein opened in three places on the property. The first shaft is down 60 feet, and from a test shipment of 100 sacks sent to the smelter returns were received of $19.60 to the ton. With the completion of the big reduction plant at Florence this will probably make a very good paying proposition.

MAY END IN LYNCHING.

Excitement at Atchison Over a Brutal Negro's Acts

Atchison, Kan., Nov. 16.—Intense excitement, which may end in a lynching, has been caused here by the brutal acts of an unknown negro, this morning. Between 4:30 and 6:30 o'clock he entered the homes of four highly respected white ladies living within four blocks of each other and assaulted them.

The negro was evidently acquainted with the habits of the male folks, as at each place they were absent at the time. The victims are Mrs. Michael McKain, Mrs. Grossman, Mrs. Benjamin Hobson and Mrs. Wells.

Searching parties are looking for the negro in every direction, and summary justice will surely follow if he is captured. The negro is supposed to be one Tom Collins of Leavenworth. The first house entered was that of Michael McKain. McKain is a night yardmaster in the employ of the Missouri Pacific railway. The negro forced an entrance into Mrs. McKain's bed room, where she was sleeping with a small child, and grabbing her by the throat almost choked her into insensibility, and came near suffocating the child. A servant girl was aroused and ran out of the house screaming. As the negro passed out into the yard he clutched the servant girl by the throat, drew a knife and attempted to stab her. A quick movement saved her life, and she received only a slight cut on the neck.

The house of Grossman, a bartender, was next visited, and Mrs. Grossman was badly beaten about the head and body because of her cries for assistance. The bed was covered with blood, but the prompt arrival of neighbors prevented the commission of murder, and the negro sprang head first through a window.

The house of B. Hobson, also a night employe of the Missouri Pacific railway, was visited, but passers by scared the negro.

George Fitch had just arrived home when the negro attempted to get into his house, and Fitch drove him into the yard, where a pitched battle ensued. Fitch striking the negro in the back with a rock and the latter drew a pistol. Fitch retreated.

Mrs. Ransom-Wells, the wife of a prominent trader, was aroused by someone trying to enter her bed room, and opening her window she screamed loudly for help. By this time the entire neighborhood was aroused, and policemen and private citizens, armed with guns and revolvers, searched high and low, but no trace of the negro could be found.

SAVED BY THE SNOW.

The Forest Fires in Boulder County Put Out.

Boulder, Colo., Nov. 16.—A heavy snow storm last evening put out the forest fires before they could reach the larger mining settlements. Gold Hill, toward which the flames were advancing with such rapidity yesterday afternoon, is now pronounced absolutely safe. The fire in eating its way toward that camp was stopped by a plowed field a short distance west of town.

Couriers to Boulder at 9 o'clock last evening reported the fire out and snow falling fast.

Confidence has been restored among the residents of the threatened district, and the Gold Hill people who fled before the fire have nearly all returned.

The losses cannot just now be estimated. They fall principally on the ranchers who were burned out, and on the smaller mining properties.

INCENDIARY FIRES

Winnipeg Troubled Over Five Mysterious Outbreaks.

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 16. What is believed to have been a series of incendiary fires occurred last night and this morning, and as a result property valued at $400,000 has been destroyed. Between midnight and 6 o'clock no less than five alarms were turned in for different fires. Among the buildings burned was the Western Canadian block, at the corner of Main street and Portage avenue, where the fire originated, and the Grand Union hotel on Princess street. The flames crossed the street and destroyed the large warehouse of Merrick, Anderson & Co. In addition to those buildings a number of smaller structures and dwellings were burned. The Western Canadian block was one of the finest buildings in Winnipeg. The ground story was occupied by Wight Brothers, importers of English dry goods, who carried a stock valued at $15,000, and by Mitchell, druggist, whose loss will exceed $75,000. This block was erected some five years ago at a cost of $125,000, the lower floors being occupied by business firms and the upper five stories being fitted up for offices occupied by insurance companies and professional men. The loss on Merrick, Anderson & Co.'s warehouse is estimated at fully $125,000.

A FATAL BLOW.

Fitzsimmons Probably Kills His Boxing Partner.

Syracuse, N. Y. Nov. 16.—While Bob Fitzsimmons and Con Riordan, his sparring partner, were boxing at Jacob's Opera House in this city to-night, Fitz caught Riordan with a blow on the point of the jaw and the San Francisco pugilist was knocked out. The blow was a light one, but Riordan had been drinking heavily, and did not recover consciousness despite the efforts of two physicians, who gave him hypodermic injections and applied an electric battery. Riordan breathed as if in pain, and the only evidence of life about him was a twitching of the muscles when the battery was applied. Fitzsimmons and his manager, Capt. Glori, were greatly alarmed when the true condition of Riordan was made known to them. Fitzsimmons gave orders to spare no expense to save the man's life.

Fitz himself was knocked down by Joe Duffee, the local pugilist, who killed Donovan in a fight at Maple Bay about a year ago. Shortly after midnight Fitzsimmons was placed under arrest. Riordan is still unconscious, and shows no improvement.

Fitzsimmons is now confined in the Syracuse police station. Bail was refused. The doctors have decided that Riordan is suffering from cerebral hemorrhage, and that he is likely to die before morning. Fitz is almost prostrated by the result. He claims that he did not strike Riordan a hard blow, and that it would not have knocked him out unless he had been physically weakened. There are witnesses, however, who say that if Riordan had been drinking, as it is claimed, he did not show any signs of it as he walked out on the stage. A dozen of the best physicians in the city are attending the injured man.

Historical Celebration.

Cherry Tree, Pa., Nov. 16. Over 1500 people gathered here to-day from three counties to witness the unveiling ceremonies at the monument erected by the State of Pennsylvania marking the boundary line of William Penn's purchase from the Indians. E. B. Camp was chosen president and E. T. Brithart, secretary of the meeting. Rev. J. R. E. Craighead made the opening prayer. Governor Pattison and other State officials failed to appear. At the last moment Governor-elect Hastings was compelled to send his regrets.

Ex-Governor Beaver made the unveiling address and told of the early purchase and the boundaries. F. A. Shomaker of Ebensburg followed in a short address devoted to a brief review of the laws William Penn made for the people. Judge Harry White of Indiana gave a historical sketch and was received with much enthusiasm.

Annual Grange Report.

Springfield, Ills., Nov. 16.—The annual report of the executive committee of the was submitted to-day. It showed the National Grange, Patrons of Husbandry, finances of the order to be in a prosperous condition and the membership increasing. Leonard Rhote of Pennsylvania was elected to succeed himself as a member of the executive committee for the next two years. The State masters reported the same healthy growth in the order during the last year. The question of co-operation was considered at the afternoon session. The co-operative system of fire insurance in New York was declared to be a success and a strong feature of grange work.

A Defaulter's Escape.

Wichita, Kan., Nov. 16.—Walter Donaldson, the defaulting money order clerk of the Caldwell postoffice, was arrested this morning near Garnett, Kan., where he had purchased a farm with his stealings, but a few minutes afterwards he eluded his guards and is again at large. After his arrest Donaldson asked leave to go into a stable, and being granted this, he disappeared through a rear door and has not been seen since.

DUST IN DENVER.

HOW THE BIG STORM STRUCK THAT CITY WEDNESDAY.

A Maelstrom at Each Street Corner—Awnings, Signs, Windows and Electric Light Wires Damaged—One Man Seriously Injured.

A traveler from the Panhandle of Texas yesterday stood at one of the upper windows in the dome of the courthouse about 3 o'clock in the afternoon looking over the city. He had been looking over the business portion and as his glance turned toward the smelters and out over the residence section he stopped his observation with a sudden exclamation. Off to the northeast the horizon was observed by a dense bank of dirty yellow, which upon closer examination proved to be a dust cloud rolling over the prairies at a rapid rate toward the city. It had a most ominous appearance and the Texan, accustomed to hunt cover upon such indications, wanted to make a break for the basement, until he was reassured that Colorado was never troubled with cyclones.

If it was not a cyclone, it was the next thing to it. Five minutes later the cloud struck the city, not covering it as a pall, but rushing over it and through it and around it like a mighty river, reckless of obstruction. For the first eight minutes the wind blew with a velocity of 60 miles an hour and for an hour afterward at but a slightly diminished speed. It carried with it the dust and dirt it had accumulated in its career over the plains and much of the latter remained after the wind had subsided, as a reminder. Before it had had a chance to settle down and while the wind was bringing it in by the ton the city was a sight, or rather it wasn't, as it was impossible to see a block ahead. The Kittredge building was invisible from the upper floors of the courthouse, a block away. Close to the ground it was a little clearer, owing to the obstructions, but higher up real estate predominated largely in the atmospheric make-up.

The visitor was unexpected and therefore unwelcome. Pedestrians who a moment before had been sauntering along enjoying the sunshine lost their bearings and stooped about with eyes blinded and mouths and nostrils filled with sand and dust. The dirt penetrated everywhere in a remarkably short space of time and in buildings that were not almost hermetically sealed the air nearly choked the occupants. Hallways in the big blocks and public buildings were darkened by the dust and people hurried through them half-suffocated. If it was disagreeable on the streets where the atmosphere was constantly changing, it was unbearable inside, where the fine dust hung in the air and seemed as if it was never going to settle. It did after a long time, however, and to-day housewives, servants and janitors have a task before them to test their temper and endurance.

The storm lasted for an hour, though toward the end it subsided somewhat. For the first eight minutes the streets were literally a howling wilderness. Pedestrians were blown off their feet and mingled in the general mix-up of things animate and inanimate. Cornices were torn off, plate glass windows crashed either from the force of the wind or contact with flying debris, fences and sign-boards toppled over and sections of them careened about the streets and electric wires became tangled and added an element of serious danger. After the first fury of the storm had passed and the air cleared enough to permit observation the general wreck began to be visible. The wind kept up at a lively rate, however, and lighter debris continued to circulate.

The wind as it rushed down a street, carried everything movable before it until it came to a corner, where a counter current with another mass of sweepings met and a maelstrom resulted. The debris whirled around at a dizzy rate, and after all was over each street intersection was decorated with a heterogenious pile of garbage. At the corner of Seventeenth and Market streets the sight was somewhat amusing. The merry-go-round here was unusually large. On the outer edge a lot of big paper bags, which had escaped from some warehouse or delivery wagon, sailed slowly around, while in the center a mass of bits of paper, sticks and other debris whirled about at a lively rate. Overhead several large sheets of paper sailed through the air until they came in contact with telegraph poles or wires, around which they wrapped themselves and remained.

A bill board, 10 feet high and 25 feet long, left its place near the corner of Twenty-first and Larimer streets, and started off for a jaunt. When it reached the sidewalk it came in contact with A. C. Hiller, an agent for the Prudential Life Insurance company. Mr. Hiller's business did not save him, and he went down under the weight. When the fence was lifted off he was found unconscious under it, with a deep cut over the left eye and other serious injuries. The police ambulance was summoned and Surgeon Johnson removed Hiller to his home, at 1671 Pearl street. He is in a dangerous condition.

A live wire started a blaze in the residence of Mr. Shaffer, at 1420 Gilpin street, and did $50 worth of damage before the department arrived. A bunch of wires fell into the street at Twenty-eighth and Humboldt and caused a panic in the neighborhood. A big show case of crockery in front of the Fair at Sixteenth and Champa street toppled over on to the pavement and bits of crockery and glass flew in all directions. One of the big plate glass windows in the Boston building was blown out and a shower of glass fell to the sidewalk, fortunately injuring no one. A number of bicyclists were blown off their mounts and sustained bruises and cuts.

The wind was accompanied by a sudden and remarkable drop in the temperature. At noon the thermometer registered 72 degrees. Ten minutes after the storm struck it had dropped 26 points and at 6 o'clock it was at 35, a change of 37 degrees in three hours. It was 33 degrees lower than it had been on the previous evening. With this drop in temperature and the cessation of the gale came another storm. It was a mild sort of a blizzard, a foretaste of real winter. The snow began to fall rapidly but not heavily, and by late evening the city had assumed a genuine wintry aspect. The weather observer predicts a cessation of the wind and snow to-day, but a continuation of the cold weather.

The storm was from the northeast and passed on to the south. At Pueblo early last night it was blowing at the rate of 52 miles an hour and the temperature had fallen 12 degrees. At that hour it was not at its height and a still greater fall was expected. The rapid rate at which the storm moved is shown by the fact that there was a difference of .32 in the barometer between this city and Pueblo, a distance of only 108 miles.—(Republican.

NICARAGUA CANAL.

American Sentiment Strongly Favors Its Completion.

Baltimore, Nov. 15.—The Manufacturers' Record of this week will publish 60 special letters from United States Senators and Congressmen giving their views upon the question of whether the government should give financial aid to secure the early construction of the Nicaragua canal. The letters are about equally divided between the Democrats and Republicans and with only a few exceptions take strong grounds in favor of the importance of the canal and of its control by the United States government, either by the government building it and owning it outright or lending such financial aid to its construction as will insure its control by the government.

Senator Sherman of Ohio says that he is thoroughly committed to the construction of the Nicaragua canal, and emphasizes the report he made to the Senate in favor of government aid.

Senator Walsh of Georgia says that the Nicaragua canal is the greatest enterprise now before the business world. He believes that is should be built and controlled by the United States government and he adds that there is no other great enterprise that would so certainly afford new and profitable fields for America's commerce.

Hon. W. B. Allison of Iowa thinks that it should either be built by the government or by such government aid as will give the United States control of its management.

Hon. Charles M. H. Morgan of Missouri thinks it folly to construct the canal while we continue "the wicked tariff restrictions upon our trade."

Hon. C. H. Grosvenor of Ohio says that he is in favor of the completion of the Nicaragua canal by the United States and has always voted in that direction and shall continue to vote in that direction.

Hon. Alexander McDowell of Pennsylvania says the people of Shenango valley, Pennsylvania, believe in the canal and believe that it should be built and controlled by the government.

Hon. H. C. Lodge of Massachusetts is heartily in favor of the construction of the canal and says it must be controlled by the United States.

Hon. Michael D. Harter of Ohio is urgently anxious to see the canal pushed through, but does not believe that it should be done by the government.

Hon. Daniel E. Sickles of New York is earnestly in favor of the speedy completion of the canal and believes that the undertaking should receive liberal aid from the government. It should be an American work of American work, the longest step forward now in sight.

A Cruiser Injured.

New York, Nov. 16.—The United States cruiser Cincinnati, which left the Brooklyn navy yard at 6:30 this morning returned this afternoon having met with an accident on her way to New London.

When the vessel was passing Execution Rock in Long Island Sound she struck a sunken object, which broke some of her plates forward amidships on the port side, near the boiler. The water began to pour into the air chamber and all the bulkheads were closed. Although the accident was not a serious one, Captain Glass deemed it wise to return to the navy yard.

At the time the vessel struck she was ploughing through 18 feet of water and there are no rocks charted there. It is surmised that the object struck was a sunken barge.

The Cincinnati will be placed in the dry dock and examined.

A Consul Tried.

Washington, Nov. 16.—The facts in regard to the alleged insult to the Stars and Stripes implied in the reported incarceration of American Consul Hollis in the dungeons of a Portuguese fortress at the Portuguese colony of Mozambique, Africa, which have been so much exaggerated in dispatches sent from this city are officially stated as follows:

United States Consul W. Stanley Hollis of Massachusetts shot at a burglariously inclined Kaffir one night in September and the wounds proving mortal, Mr. Hollis was tried just as a British consul in a city of the United States would be tried under similar circumstances. The Mozambique judicial authorities found the consul guilty of a crime which is akin to justifiable homicide in Anglo-Saxon jurisprudence, but which under Portuguese law appears to carry with it a mild sentence of imprisonment, evidently intended to restrain the Kaffirs from too much indiscriminate killing on slight provocation. The Mozambique penal code also has a unique provision that the prosecution may appeal and unless the appeal warrants an increase of sentence the convict is acquitted. The State department has been informed that such an appeal has been noted, presumably in the Consul's behalf, and that Mr. Hollis enjoys full liberty on his own recognizance.

Hunting the Strangler.

Denver, Nov. 16.—The detectives are trying to locate "Jack, the Strangler" have not found him yet, but they are working on some curious theories. One has discovered that the three strangled women were each presented with gorgeous chrysanthemums by a mysterious German crank a few hours before his sinister hand clutched their throats.

Another has found an opium smoking Chinaman who has a crazy notion that one of his cousins strangled the diminutive Kiku Oyama because she was sending all her money to Japan to aid her country in its far with China.

A Verdict in the Turck Case.

Denver, Nov. 16.—The jury in the case of John Turck vs. The Colorado Central Consolidated Mining company at 5:30 p. m. returned a verdict for the plaintiff of $116,000. Defendants' counsel conceded $40,000. Senator Teller and Willard Teller are attorneys for plaintiff and Messrs. Morrison and Chas. J. Hughes, attorneys for defendant.

A Smelting Trust Proposed.

Denver, Nov. 16.—The Denver smelting men had a most important meeting during the early part of the week. The object of the meeting was to formulate some plans towards uniting the silver mines of the State with the miners and smelting men of Mexico, and form a syndicate to control the silver markets of the world. Rumor has it that J. D. Rockefeller and the Rothschilds are back of the scheme.

COURAGE.

By EDMONDO DE AMICIS.

With these last words he withdrew his hand from the prisoner's head. He looked at it. There were hairs on it Enraged, he threw them in the soldier's face, and a hair stuck to his mouth To free himself of this he spat. The brigands, taking this act to be one of contempt, were unable to restrain themselves any longer All three together, with a cry of rage, fell on him like wild beasts and began quickly and silently to torture him with the points of their daggers, with their nails, their teeth, their knees and their feet.

Now and then one or the other stopped a moment to take breath, saying, "Slowly," in order to keep one another from killing him. There was no sound except the heavy breathing of the three murderers, the clashing of the daggers and the dry sobs of the victim They were blind, drunken animals. They did not look any more like three men, but like a monster with three bodies intwined around a helpless victim They represented the worst conceivable combination of fiendish cowardice and ferocity.

"Do not kill him yet," began again the young man on guard, turning quickly first toward the brigands and then toward the valley below and crying louder and louder, as though he wished to cover an approaching noise: "Do not kill him yet! Wait! He will speak! He will tell all, but if you kill him you will not know anything! Try again! He has motioned that he wants to speak! But you will kill him! I shall stab him with my dagger if you don't! Down with your daggers! Hit him with your fist! Don't you see that he is dying?"

Without ceasing to scream out sentences like these he threw a look out toward the foot of the plateau, and then he jumped in the middle of the cave. He changed all of a sudden his tone of voice, and with an accent of contempt he continued: "Ah, cowards! Three against a dying man!"

"Fool!" cried the chief, throwing himself with uplifted dagger against him.

"Too late!" replied the latter, with an expression of joy and pointing toward the door. "Look!"

At the same moment, while the other brigands, admonished by the young man, threw a mantle over their victim, and while the chief grasped a musket a noise of arms and steps was heard, and bayonets gleamed—in the sunshine in front of the cave's entrance. From the top of the rock a mass of soldiers invaded the stronghold, and in a second surrounded, overcame, disarmed and threw to the ground all those they found in the cave. A few moments of silence followed, during which nothing could be heard except the panting of the soldiers, who were out of breath.

"Help the dying!" cried, all of a sudden, the young brigand, who, like the rest, knelt with his hands to the ground under the musket of a carabiniere.

"Who is dying?" asked the captain, coming forward, dusty and panting.

"There in the corner," answered the young man, pointing.

All turned. No one could distinguish anything.

"Under the cloak," continued the brigand.

The captain, followed by the eyes of all, walked to the corner, seized the mantle and tore it away. A general cry of horror rose at the sickening sight which was thus revealed. The miserable prisoner on his knees, with his hands braided behind his back and his head falling on his chest, was entirely covered with cuts and blood, so that he seemed to have been scalped. He tried to look up.

"Untie him immediately!" cried the captain. "Give him water!"

Three soldiers came forward, untied him, seated him and began to examine his wounds. The others, maddened at the sight, hit the brigands with the stock of their muskets.

"Down with your arms!" ordered the captain, and turning to the youngest brigand he commanded, "You must speak!"

The soldiers who held him allowed him to arise.

"When was that man captured?" asked the captain. "Tell the truth before you die."

"That man," began the young fellow in a breathless voice and trembling from horror and fear, "that soldier was captured this morning. They brought him here; they tied him; they wanted him to speak. He refused to do so. They jumped on him. I saw it all. My God, my God!"

"But who are you?" exclaimed the captain, pulling off the young man's hat. A mass of curling hair fell over his shoulders. They all murmured as they turned to look at him, "A woman!"

"Yes," she cried desperately, "a woman! They stole me 15 days ago. They held a knife to my throat and took me along. But I have not stained my hands with blood! No! I swear to it! I only accompanied them so that they would not kill me. I am a poor peasant girl from San Severo."

"But why did you not shoot one of these murderers?"

"I did not have the courage. They would have tortured me. You ought to see what they do! I thought I should go insane. Oh, if you had seen! But he (and she pointed to the wounded soldier), he has been a god! He stood it all without a murmur, without a cry."

"Drag these cowards to the feet of their victim," ordered the captain.

The prisoners were dragged in front of the wounded man, whose head he had been bandaged with a handkerchief, one end of which covered his eyes.

"I am here," exclaimed the captain, bending toward the unhappy man, who was beginning to revive "You are safe! You are among your companions! Courage! Look; your murderers kneel before you!"

The soldier raised his head slowly and shivered. Then he extended his hand, laying it on the head of the chief of the brigands; then he withdrew it, stained with his blood covered mouth, leaned his head forward and spat something out upon the ground

"What is this?" asked the captain picking up the thing, white and soft, which had fallen from the mouth of the wounded man.

"Your answer—to the colonel," whispered the soldier

"To the colonel of San Severo? My answer, the one I gave you this morning"

The soldier nodded The captain threw himself upon him, put one arm around his neck and kissed him on his forehead Then he sprang up, and turning to his soldiers commanded: "Bow to this hero, my brave boys!" He carried to the colonel my letter, in which I stated when and where I was going. If the brigands had read it, they would have been safe. He put it in his mouth, and he did not speak, in order that he might not betray himself, and he stood silently all these terrible tortures. He is a hero! He is a martyr!"

"He is!" they all cried unanimously.

"Kiss his feet, cowards!" ordered the captain to the brigands.

One after the other, crawling like worms, they kissed the feet of the wounded man.

"Captain," cried the woman suddenly, as though out of her mind, "I could have given the alarm when you were coming. I did not give it. I let you come. I ask one favor in exchange. I can never return again to my home. Let them shoot me!"

They all turned to him.

"You," continued the miserable man, with a low voice, pointing a bloody hand toward the woman, "you must do a merciful act."

"What? Speak! My God! I ask it for charity's sake!" cried the woman, throwing herself at his feet, with clasped hands

"Accompany me," murmured the man.

"Where?" pleaded the woman.

"Everywhere!"

They all looked at one another astonished

"What do you mean?" asked the woman.

"You have not seen all my wounds," said the soldier. "Look!"

He pulled the handkerchief from his forehead. They all crowded nearer, gave him one anxious look and then uttered a cry of horror and of pity His eyes were gone. The man was blind.

They joined hands

"Death!" screamed all the soldiers, hitting the brigands with their muskets and killing them

"Death!" The voice of the captain was lost in the tumult, and the soldiers ran out, dragging the murderers with them

"Will you do this act of mercy?" asked the wounded man of the woman when they remained alone together. She lifted her eyes to heaven and murmured.

"My life is yours!"

They joined hands, and a distance of tranquility in the valley below seemed to seal the compact between them. Translated From the Italian For Rosalea.

THE NEW METROPOLIS.

[illegible] voters of New York and Brooklyn [illegible] have cast a majority [illegible] votes in favor of the proposed consolidation. This is not [illegible] the vote was not like an ordinary referendum, it was only advisory. In Chicago the proposed bill is of course regarded with bitter feelings. It is impossible to [illegible] Chicago [illegible] that it was not proposed simply in order to [illegible] New York, by swallowing a large portion of contiguous territory, to make out a showing of population larger than Chicago's. For a brief moment, the Chicago people have been able to claim that their city is larger than New York, because more voters were registered in their city this fall than in New York; but when Brooklyn is taken in, and Staten Island, and a good big piece of Long Island, the population of the new metropolis will be something over three millions,

DENVER WON.

THE UNIVERSITY TOO HEAVY FOR THE COLLEGE.

It was a Hard Fought Battle—The Donovan Ranch Stables Burned Along with All the Live Stock—Coming Attractions at the Opera House.

The cold weather kept a great many people away from the football game between the Colorado College team and that of Denver University. The score stood 8 to 0 in favor of the University team when time was called.

Although the Denver University team had the advantage of several pounds of weight as well as of much more practice, the College team acquited themselves honorably and made a good showing.

The University got the kick-off and sent the ball far down their opponent's territory. Shilling, half-back on the College team got it and made a good run, but was stopped very soon. The College then made by a fumble. The University team showed much practice in blocking and soon had a touch-down. They failed to kick goal, the ball going below the bar. The College then sent the ball almost to their opponent's goal. It was caught and carried a short distance down the field. After this the ball went back and forth for some time but the University weight soon asserted itself and another touch-down was made. The kick for goal went wide of the posts and the score stood 8 to 0. These were the only points made during the game. Time was soon called.

In the second half, the College boys played an excellent game and gave the Denver team some hard work. The University team forced the ball into the College territory and made some good gains. The College boys asserted their strength and forced the ball back again. It was kept going back and forth this way all through this half, neither side scoring a point.

In the first half a number of the University team were hurt. Mr. Thomas Shafer, full back, was struck on the head and unable to stand on his feet for some time. He pluckily got up and continued the game. There was hardly a down but what some of the University team were injured but none seriously. In the second half, several other Denver men were injured. Mr. Frick, right-end, was injured very seriously by a fall and had to be carried from the field. None of the College boys were hurt.

As regards the players it was hard to say who played best but every man did his best on both teams. Shilling made a fine run through the line and was on a fair way for a goal when stopped by a tackle.

The College team played a good game and with a little more practice would undoubtedly have scored against the University team. Packard, full back, made several fine tackles.

Mr. Frick was taken to the Alamo hotel and remained unconscious most of the afternoon. The physician in charge would not allow any one to see him. It is not known whether his case is very serious or not.

SERIOUS FIRE.

S. M. Donovan's Barn and Property Burned.

The barn on the ranch of S. M. Donovan, two and a half miles south east of the city, was burned at 3 o'clock yesterday morning.

The barn was 62x105 feet, and contained a number of head of live stock, several tons of hay and much valuable farming machinery and harness. A portion of the live stock was saved, but the loss will amount to about $7,000, including 23 heads of cows, 6 head of horses, $1,500 worth of hay and feed, $1,000 worth of harness and farming implements.

The loss is partially covered by insurance, as follows: In the Connecticut, $550; Springfield Fire Marine, $2,000; Denver, $350; and Home Mutual of California, $2,000; total amount of insurance $6,100.

It is generally believed that some tramps got into the barn to spend the night, which was bitterly cold, and built a fire. Two years ago Mr. Donovan suffered a heavy loss in the same manner and from the same cause.

"Charley's Aunt" To-night.

"Charley's Aunt," the latest comedy success will be presented at the opera house this evening. The play is solid enjoyment from beginning to end. There are five or six pretty love stories artistically dovetailed together in it and the development of the play begins with the impressing of a young student into the task of helping two of his college chums along in a double-barreled love affair. The aunt of one of the boys is expected from Brazil, and they have prepared a lunch for her to which they have invited their sweethearts. At the last moment a telegram is received from the aunt announcing that she has been delayed and will not arrive for a day or two. The girls are on hand and so is the lunch. The young men do not wish to postpone the affair so they get their fellow student, Lord Fancourt Babberley, to personate the aunt and give propriety to the occasion. Then the fun begins. The author of "Charley's Aunt" is Brandon Thomas, whose admirable acting made him popular when he was in this country with Rosina Vokes and played in "The Pantomime Rehearsal."

Thomas Keene in "Richelieu."

Mr. Thomas Keene, the eminent tragedian, supported by an excellent company, will appear at the opera house next Monday evening in "Richelieu." An exchange says: "Mr. Thomas W. Keene, the eminent tragedian, last night appeared in the title role of Bulwer's 'Richelieu,' and scored another artistic triumph. The audience was a fine one and by frequent applause manifested its appreciation of the merit of the performance. 'Richelieu,' as is well known, is a fine acting play, grand, historical, romantic and beautiful in language and thought, and should be given more frequently to the intelligent public. Mr. Keene's presentation of the role showed that he had studied the part and perfected it at all points, and he has also done wonders in the staging and costuming. Mr. Arlen is the Chevalier de Mauprat and Mr. Hennig as Baradas read their parts well. Miss Lawrence has won many admirers here, but never has she shown to better advantage than in the role of Julie de Mortimer. Miss Downs also makes good use of the opportunity she is given in interpreting the part of Marion de Lorme."

District Court.

Albert Harden, who was accused of killing Moses Parks at Gillett last spring, had a trial in the District Court yesterday. It took but a short time and Harden was acquitted. The evidence failed to show tht Harden, known as the Diamond Kid, had anything to do with the killing. Mr. Cochran prosecuted and J. H. Crowell defended.

The case of the People vs. Jerre Dunn was set for trial on Dec. 13.

The jury was excused until Tuesday next.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

The young people who were present at the union meeting last evening in the First M. E. church thoroughly enjoyed the exceedingly helpful discourse given them by Rev. C. B. Spencer of Denver. He left for his home this morning.

All young men are reminded of the meeting in the Y. M. C. A. at 4:15. Evangelist Northcutt of the Christian church will speak on the first subject in the sea side series, "Setting Sail."

There will be no junior class in the Y. M. C. A. this morning on account of the funeral of Clarence McCloskey, who was one of the members.

Young men's class in the gymnasium to night at 7:45.

The second entertainment last evening under the direction of the Coliseum management was in most respects quite successful. For the first part Mr. and Mrs. Dietrich of The Antlers orchestra gave a number of classical selections that were greatly enjoyed. Mr. Dennis and Mr. Parsons then gave a banjo and guitar selection that was very good and received an en core. Colonel Ginger then gave the recitation, "The Comic Sheridan's Ride." The farce of "Dr. Cureall's Office in an Uproar," was then put on. Lou Desmond took the part of the darkey, played by Colonel Ginger the night before and made quite a hit, although suffering with a cold. Clint Draper played the other darkey and got out all the fun there is in it. His dancing was one of the features of the evening. The boys both act, sing and dance like old stagers. The entertainment concluded with the scene "The Attack on the Picket Line." About 20 of the Sons of Veterans and officers of the High school cadets took part. The scene was quite stirring.

At 12:45 last night the fire department was called to the corner of Willamette and Nevada avenues by an alarm from box 13. A load of wood had been left on a wagon and "was settin' on a corner doin' no harm," when some one came along and set fire to it. Then the alarm was turned in. The department soon squelched the blaze.

Mr. C. E. Heiser has been appointed postmaster at Cascade.

Murder and Suicide.

Chicago, Nov. 16.—At 6 o'clock this afternoon J. J. Higgins, an electrician, killed Mrs. Katie McLaughlin of 322 West Monroe street, and shortly afterwards committed suicide.

Higgins shot at Mrs. McLaughlin four times, the first three shots going astray. The fourth shot fired did the murderous work. As the woman fell, her little 11-year-old son ran to attack Higgins. The man shot the last bullet out of his revolver at the little boy, but missed him. The little fellow ran out of the house, called a doctor, several doors away, and then went a block further and got a policeman. Higgins left the house and walked up the street, but returned on the opposite side and standing with his face to the house, where the murdered woman lay, fired four bullets into his own head. His body was removed to the county morgue.

Two Men Assassinated.

Lulu, Miss., Nov. 16. Jacob W. Harman, mayor of this town, and Henry Lawrence, leading jeweler here, were assassinated on the streets at noon by John W. Lloyd, overseer of the Van Eaton plantation and younger brother Bob.

A year ago Mayor Harman and the elder Boyd had a disagreement and several shots were exchanged, since which time bad blood has existed between them. Yesterday afternoon, Mayor Harman met John W. Boyd on the street, drew his pistol and beat him over the head with it. To-day the Boyd brothers came into town armed with rifles. At noon as Harman and Lawrence walked up the street to dinner the Boyd brothers confronted them and opened fire. Harman drew his revolver and fired a couple of shots without effect, both he and Lawrence were killed on the spot. The elder Boyd escaped on horseback, the younger on foot. They sent word that they would surrender to the sheriff but to no one else. The two men killed are aged 35 years. The elder Boyd is 25 years of age, the younger 28.

To Check Flour Production.

Chicago, Nov. 16.—A committee of 12 millers selected by the Merchant Milling interest at large, met in Chicago to-day to consider the desirability of arranging a plan to curtail the output. The scheme of the meeting was originated by the Northwestern Miller of Minneapolis.

T. A. Taylor of Toledo, Ohio, was chosen chairman and H. S. Kennedy, secretary. The committee came from Ohio, Indiana, Minnesota, North Dakota, Missouri, Illinois, Wisconsin and other milling States. As a result of its deliberation it was resolved to induce millers if possible to curtail their output about 50 per cent from December to March, and the secretary was instructed to prepare suitable blanks and endeavor to secure pledges from the millers of the country to carry out this plan. The idea is to reduce the present 600,000 barrel surplus.

At an informal meeting of some of the committee this evening the project of incorporating the National Millers Association with the idea of raising funds and stimulating the trade. Several were in favor of charging $10 initiation fee or for a share of stock which it was figured would bring in $300,000 to treasury.

A Union Pacific Rumpus.

Omaha, Nov. 16. George Miller, a yard clerk in the employ of the Union Pacific railway, was discharged by Yardmaster McNeill for issuing a permit of absence without authority. Miller intends taking the case through the Federal court in harmony with Judge Dundy's invitation to employes to call upon him for justice.

The startling statement is made with a list of witnesses to prove it that McNeill had been absent from his duty more than two-thirds of the time, and that he has borrowed hundreds of dollars from his subordinates which he has lost by gambling. Another allegation is that McNeill has caused employes to apply for transportation, which being turned over to him has been used for his benefit. These are a few of a long list of sensational charges Miller intends bringing against McNeill all of which can be proved.

Bishop Neraz Dead.

San Antonio, Tex., Nov. 16. John Claudius Neraz, bishop of the Catholic diocese of San Antonio, died at his home here to-day after a long illness. He was born in France in 1823.

W. C. T. U.

A Large Attendance at the Cleveland Convention.

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 16.—The first session of the W. C. T. U. convention held in Music hall this morning with the largest attendance in the history of the union. The session was devoted to the annual address of President Frances Willard and the reports of committees.

Music hall with a seating capacity of 5000 was crowded to the doors at both the afternoon and evening sessions. Mrs. Stephens of Maine read the report of the corresponding secretary, the late Mrs. Woodbridge. The report showed that the following States have increased their membership this year, and as a natural result have broadened and deepened the work along the lines: Arizona, Arkansas, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Dakota, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Indian Territory, Iowa, Maine, Maryland, Missouri, Mississippi, Montana, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Vermont, West Virginia, Washington, Wisconsin, Wyoming.

New York presented to the constitutional convention a petition 472 yards long, containing 40,000 names, for prohibition of the liquor traffic and emancipation of women. Thousands of evangelic meetings, resulting in several thousand conversions, were held.

The report showed that the W. C. T. U. has a following of between 400,000 and 500,000, including the active paid up membership of the W.'s and Y.'s, and the honorary members and the Loyal Temperance Legion, which is the nursery of the organization.

The portion of the treasurer's report that gives the members of the union most pleasure is the fact that the W. C. T. U. comes up to its 21st birthday convention with a report of receipts larger by $5,000 than any previous year. In addition to this, gifts in cash, notes and negotiable stock to the amount of $6,800 more than the regular receipts were also reported. Following the reading of the secretary's report came the reports of superintendents. Under the latter head were reports from the superindendents of the various sub-divisions of the departments of organization, prevention and education. A healthy growth in all branches of temperance work was indicated by the various reports. The evening session was devoted to addresses of welcome and responses. On behalf of the Federated Unions of this city, Mrs. S. M. Perkins, one of the veterans in Christian temperance work in Ohio, delivered an address of welcome that was a model of lofty sentiment and fine English. She referred feelingly to the reception of the union in this city 21 years ago, and her voice trembled with emotion as she spoke of the many earnest and noble women who had passed away, fighting against the evils of intemperance. Mayor Blee welcomed the delegates and visitors to the city, and earnestly invited them to hold their convention here next year. On behalf of the Ohio W. C. T. U. Mrs. H. L. Monroe, president of the State organization, welcomed the delegates to the Buckeye State. Responses were delivered by Mrs. Mary T. Burt, president of the New York organization; Mr. Emma A. Cramer of South Dakota; Mr. Frances E. Beaucamp of Kentucky, and Mrs. Catharine L. Stevenson of Massachusetts. During the evening session several hundred children, members of the L. T. L. of this city, marched on the stage and sang several temperance rallying songs. They were enthusiastically received.

Episcopal Church Congress.

Boston, Nov. 16.—At the Episcopal church congress this afternoon the topic was "The Argument from Design as Affected by the Theory of Evolution."

Rev. W. M. Hughes, D. D., of Morristown, N. J., was the first appointed writer. He said that the theory of evolution is immensely affecting the life of the church and the world.

The second writer was Rev. W. H. Wyatt Hannath of Yankton, S. D. His paper was a close and thoughtful analysis of the doctrine of evolution based on the teachings of Darwin, Huxley and Herbert Spencer.

The third appointed writer was Rev. F. A. Shoup, D. D., rector of the Columbia institution, Columbia, Tenn.

F. J. Woodbridge of Minneapolis, Rt. Rev. Davis Sessums, D. D., of Louisiana and Rev. Frederick Palmer of Andover then discussed the subject at length.

An A. P. A. Talker.

Bay City, Mich., Nov. 16.—Professor Walter Sims, grand lecturer for the A. P. A., is spending a few days with his family here.

Professor Sims denies the statement that he was on trial by the order, and stood in danger of expulsion. Speaking of the A. P. A. and politics in the future, Mr. Sims said: "We will have in the next House of Representatives 40 members, who are pledged to the principles of our order, but it is possible that some of these won't be able to hold out against the pressure of their party. The Republican party leaders are at heart as much opposed to the A. P. A. as are the Democrats, and will use everything in their power to drive the organization out. The Illinois Legislature will be controlled by Catholics, and a Roman Catholic sympathizer will be elected to the Senate from that State. Franklin McVeagh, the Democratic candidate for Senator, was with us. We have now a letter from him in which he pledges himself to vote against the appropriation of any public funds for sectarian purposes."

Western Baseball Association

Rock Island, Ill., Nov. 16.—The Western Baseball Association concluded its meeting here at noon to-day. Steps were taken to retain St. Joe's membership in the association. The application of Denver and Rockford for admission were tabled and St. Paul and Sioux City were admitted, making a 10-club league for the season of 1895.

To Indict a Cashier.

Omaha, Nov. 16.—A strong effort will be made next week before the Federal grand jury to secure an indictment against R. C. Outcalt, the cashier of the defunct bank at Lincoln. The case will be pushed by a number of Lincoln people. W. L. Green, ex-deputy city treasurer of Lincoln and a Mrs. King, are important witnesses in the case.

A Self Made Man.

Hot Springs, Ark., Nov. 16.—J. M. Buckley, who worked his way up from section hand on the Northern Pacific railroad to the position of assistant general manager of that road, died here last night. He left an estate valued at a quarter of a million dollars. The remains will be taken to Spokane, for interment. He was a native of Ohio, and leaves a wife and three children.

THE MARKETS.

BUSINESS IN NEW YORK WAS ON A SMALL SCALE.

Prices Showed Only Slight Changes With Fractional Declines at the Close—Wheat Prices Fluctuated Within a Half Cent Range and Closed Unchanged.

New York, Nov. 16—Money on call has been easy at 1 per cent Prime mercantile paper 3@4 per cent Bar silver 63 Sterling exchange steady with actual business in bankers' bills at $4 86¾@4 86½ for 60 days and $4 87¼@4 87¼ for demand. Posted rates $4 87@4 88. Commercial bills $4 85¼@4 85¾.

Government bonds have been steady; State bonds dull, railroad bonds lower Silver at the board was 63 bid.

Business at the Stock Exchange to-day was on a very small scale and the changes in prices which occurred were due entirely to the operations of a half dozen or so professional traders In stocks only 146,000 shares changed hands while the transactions in bonds fell to $1,099,000 The market was enlivened one time by a drop in the Anthracite Coalers. Reading falling to 16½, Jersey Central to 91¼, Delaware and Hudson to 123½ and Lackawanna to 158½ The final quotations of the latter was 155 bid and 160 asked. The stand taken by the independent coal operators had a depressing influence. As it is, the coal trade can hardly be called prosperous and it is questionable whether this latest development will improve matters Manhattan was lower, selling down to 103¾, the recent unfavorable annual report and the retirement of J. Pierpont Morgan from the directory inducing sales for both accounts. Sugar was less active and ranged between 86⅞ and 88¾ There was some selling of the stock on unconfirmed rumors that a reduction in the dividend rate was contemplated. Something definite about the matter is expected next week. Tobacco was conspicuous for a break from 100 to 96¾. Later there was a recovery to 99 to 98⅞ Little attention is paid, however, to the gyration in this specialty. Chicago Gas and General Electric were a shade easier but the dealings in them was on a small scale. The importation of gold by the Bank of British North America had no influence. Opinion was divided as to whether this gold had been imported in connection with the new government loan or the one recently placed by the Dominion of Canada in London. A report that the Raphaels of London had authorized John R Despassos to fight the Earle-Olcott Reading reorganization plan hurt the stock this afternoon In the last hour the market was steadier in tone. Net changes show losses of ⅛@¼ per cent American Sugar gained ⅞, Manhattan dropped 1⅝, Lackawanna 1¼, Delaware and Hudson ⅝ and Reading ¼ per cent. In the inactive issues Laclede Gas preferred advanced 1½ to 81.

The bond market was lower.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Nov. 16,—The principal incident of the day in the wheat market was the buying by Ream and other local professionals, but notwithstanding some heavy purchases for their accounts values did not have much snap to them. Houses that were known to be "long" of wheat for foreigners, were noticeably sellers to-day as they were yesterday. Other than the trading for Europeans mentioned there was nothing to denote that outsiders were taking any hand in the operations to-day Prices fluctuated within a half cent range most of the day, with the tone changing from firm to weak and from weak to firm several times during the session The cables from Liverpool had but little encouragement in them, steady being the best that they could be rated. Late ones from the continent were mostly all lower. Receipts at Chicago were 151 cars, 49 more than expected, and the northwest had 727 Withdrawals from store were 6553 bushels. Export clearances including wheat and flour were 141,595 bushels. It was reported that charters had been made at Duluth for 500,000 bushels. Standard brands of flour were all advanced 15 cents per barrel to-day. May wheat opened from 61 to 60¾, declined to 60¼, rallied and closed at 60⅝—unchanged from yesterday. Estimated receipts for to-morrow, 120 cars

Corn was shaped in its early tone by wheat, but resisted the good offices of the rally in that grain later. The receipts were 212 cars, 52 more than expected and to-morrow's estimate of 315 cars gave emphasis to the early weakness. The belief that arrivals would continue for a time was the most effective bear argument of the day Cables were firm Withdrawals from store, 202,492 bushels, were large. Exports were 10,939 bushels May corn opened from 50¾ to 50⅝, declined to 49¾ and closed at 49⅞@50 ⅛ under yesterday

A PALE GRAY DONKEY OF DAMASCUS.

Scorning a well-filled manger of corn and oats, slipped his halter to roam over the arid desert, where he found among the hot sands and burning rocks a scanty crop of thistles; and on the third day he perished.

The moral of this is: Don't be a pale gray donkey.

The Santa Fe has lines in fifteen States and Territories. It always gets there carefully and on time, considering all things, is cheaper than other roads.

Don't persuade yourself that any other way is satisfactory; especially if figuring on a trip to Chicago and East. The Santa Fe is the shortest line by thirty miles between Kansas City and Chicago, and has few crossings at grade. Its vestibuled flyers are beauties. Two of them leave Colorado points daily. Why not take a trial trip?

NEW YORK AND BOSTON.

Unquestionably the Santa Fe is the best line east from Colorado Springs. Through vestibuled train leaves at 9:42 p. m. daily, reaching Chicago the second morning, making connection there with all trains east. Full information given and through sleeping car accommodations secured at city ticket office in opera house block. C. C. Hoyt, Commercial Agent.

THE SHORTEST LINE TO CHICAGO, OMAHA AND ST. LOUIS.

Is via the Burlington route. The fast vestibule "flyer" leaves Denver at 9 p. m. daily, reaching Chicago at 8:20 a. m. and St. Louis at 7:20 a. m., the second morning, in ample time to connect with all fast trains for the East and South.

For St. Louis?

Because it is the shortest line, the best equipped line, runs free chair cars, buffet Pullmans, and gives you ample time in Kansas City for supper.

For Toledo or Detroit?

Because it is the shortest line, avoids transfer across the city in case you are going further east, and makes close connections with all trunk lines.

For all other Eastern points?

Because its service is uniformly good and you can make no mistake in asking for tickets via the Wabash.

The County court room was crowded all day yesterday with a crowd anxious to hear the case of the City of Colorado Springs vs. Alice Duncan This is the appealed case against the captain of the Salvation army. She insisted on bringing her army on any portion of the streets she chose and stopping to hold service. The marshal gave the army a location where they could hold services but she declined to accept it and kept leading the host on forbidden ground. She was arrested and fined but appealed the case. Danford and Potter represented the defendants and Mr. Kinsley, city attorney, prosecuted. The case will probably take another day.
